Why Your Retailers Need FDO in Their Bulk Aisle

The Tested Clean Advantage

Independent lab testing shows 1 in 15 organic-certified products contain as much glyphosate as conventional products. Your customers know this. FDO is independently tested to ensure pesticide levels are at least 90% lower than USDA organic limits and 99% lower than EPA standards. When your buyers ask "Is it really clean?" — FDO is the only brand that can prove it.

The Only 100% Farmer-Owned Brand in the Category

FDO is not owned by a corporation, a private equity fund, or a holding company. It is owned by the farmers who grow the grain. This means fair prices for farmers and uncompromising quality for consumers. It is a story that sells itself at the shelf.

Full Traceability — Seed to Shelf

Every bag of FDO product is traceable back to the exact family farm and harvest year. No other brand in the bulk category offers this level of transparency. In an era of food fraud and untraceable supply chains, FDO gives your retailers a verifiable trust advantage.

Regenerative Organic Certified — The Fastest-Growing Segment

Consumer demand for ROC products is accelerating. FDO is the world's largest supplier of Regenerative Organic Certified grains. Six of our twelve SKUs carry ROC certification, with the full line on track. Retailers who stock ROC now will own the premium position as the category grows.

Proven Velocity — 100,000+ Units in First 2 Months at Whole Foods

Farmer Direct Organic was the fastest selling independent brand launch in Whole Foods Market history. 2X expected sales rate.
